Built in Australia, the crew of 5 Skull Squires are a reminder not to take ourselves too seriously and to dance occasionally! They generate a sense of fun and levity and have playful interactions with every audience. From roving crowd interaction to choreographed dance performances, The Skull Squires are sure to be a hit at your next event.

The Skull Squires

Construction & Fabrication

The Skull Squires have large, foam-sculpted skull heads that are bright, metallic chrome in finish with colourful illuminated eyes making them a striking visual whether performing in daylight or at night.

The Squires wear matching chrome fabric body suits and high-top sneakers for maximum danceability and easy movement through a crowd. Their head to toe reflective silver covering make them a spectacular highlight at a large event and ensures that the performers really stand out even when interacting in large crowds. The light-weight foam construction allows the puppeteers to undertake complex, energetic movements during a show.

The battery operated LED eyes of the Squires can be customised to any colour and pre-programmed to add to a performance. An expressive and dynamic ensemble, they can deliver a full range of motion as well as facial expressions by the use of their moveable jaw.

The Team

There are 7 members of The Skull Squires team, including:

- 5 professional performers
- 1 puppetry director
- 1 production assistant

Performance

- Each performance of The Skull Squires runs for 45 minutes.
- The Skull Squires are energetic performers who can rove a large area during a show. The Skull Squires' performances can be either a high energy audience interaction or a "flash mob" dance routine, where they move to different spaces performing short routines.
- The LED lights contained in the Squires eyes create an impressive impact which is favoured when performed in a darker environment.
- The puppeteers will assess the audience for interaction possibilities. These cheeky characters will grab any opportunity to create a fun moment with the crowd. Skilled dancers, mimes and party animals, the Skull Squires are high-energy and bring the sense of fun and playfulness to every performance.
- The Skull Squires can also free rove when not dancing or performing. Onlookers love the opportunity to get up close to them and have moments of connection.

Technical Requirements

- The Skull Squires are highly mobile on almost any surface. They are skilled at navigating crowds and finding their way in high volume attended events.
- Performance area to accommodate the 5 performers and their energetic routines. There should be ample space to move plus room for the audience to watch from a safe perspective.
- A safe, private area where The Skull Squires can prepare prior to their performance.
- Audio is via a battery operated boom box while roving, but dependant on the performance required, speakers may be needed.
